How to find a network doctor, lab, hospital or facility

Using Network providers may help lower your health care costs and save you money.

Finding a network doctor who you trust is one way to help you stay healthy and create a health care team to manage your overall health. Reviewing your plan network and identifying the doctor(s) that may be right for you will be an important first step in getting the most from your health care plan.

What is a "network"?

A network is a group of doctors, hospitals and other providers and facilities that have a contract with UnitedHealthcare. As part of their contract, they have agreed to follow our guidelines and provide health care services to you at lower prices.

For UnitedHealthcare SignatureValue® HMO Plans

With the UnitedHealthcare SignatureValue plans one of the decisions you make in managing your health is choosing your personal Primary Care Provider (PCP) from the plan network. You and your doctor will work as a team, along with nurses, specialists, and other health care providers to help you manage your overall health.

If you are not yet a member and looking for a PCP or other provider in the SignatureValue network:

1. Go to myuhc.com®
2. Click on Find a Physician, Laboratory or Facility at the top of the right side bar
3. On the next page scroll down the list of plans and select UnitedHealthcare SignatureValue Plans (you will be redirected to www.welcometouhc.com/uhcwest)
4. Select Find a Doctor or Facility under the Benefits tab
5. Under Medical select your State and Plan
6. You can then search by Location, Name or Medical Group
    1. Enter City, State or ZIP code
    2. Select Your Plan from the drop down list
    3. Select Provider Type (Primary Care Provider)
    4. Click on Find Providers Now
